

HOW TO DRAW

DINOSAURS

Roar, stomp and draw your way through the Jurassic

T-Rex

Coloring tip

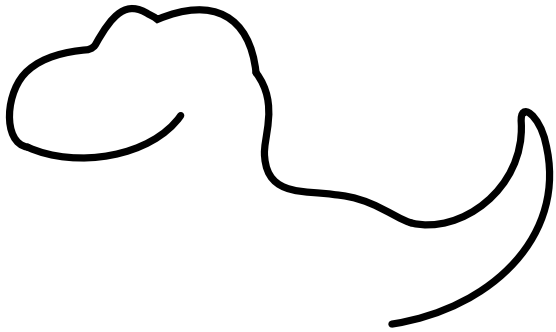

Green is the classic dinosaur color, but nobody knows what color a real T-Rex was, so purple, orange or spotted all count. Try a lighter belly, white teeth and a slightly darker shade on the farther arm and leg so they look further away. A volcano or a few palm trees in the background finish the scene.

Drawandhelp.com

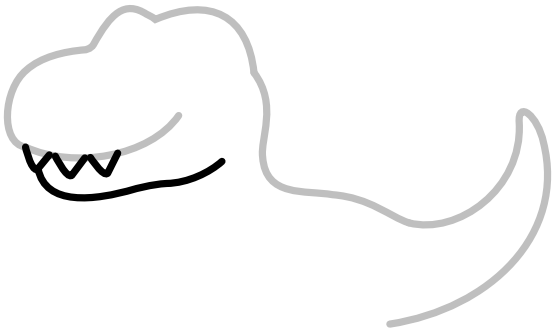

How to Draw a T-Rex

A friendly cartoon T-Rex standing on two big stomping legs, with a wide grin full of pointy teeth, two tiny arms and a long tail that sweeps up behind it.

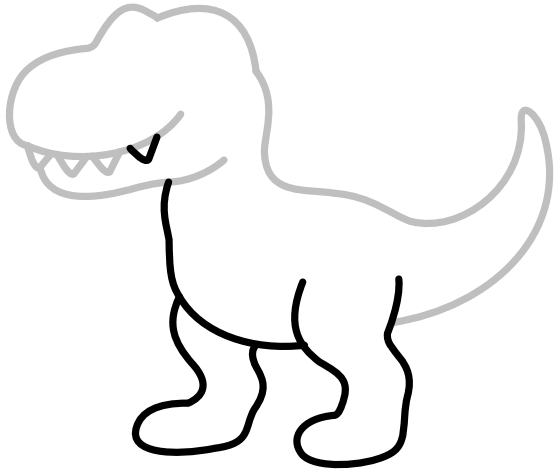

1 Steps 1-4

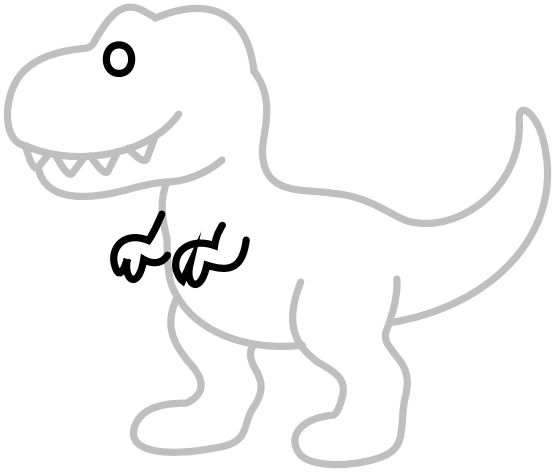

2 Steps 5-8

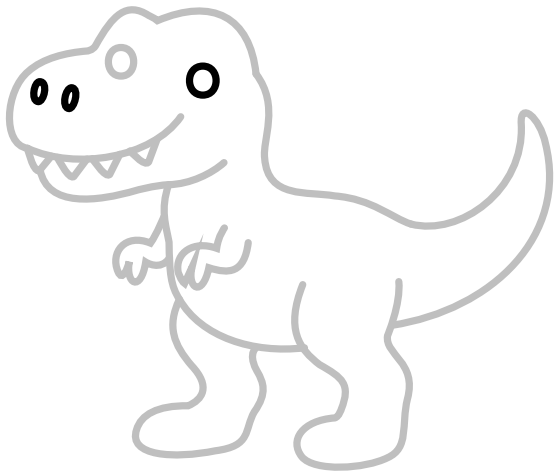

3 Steps 9-12

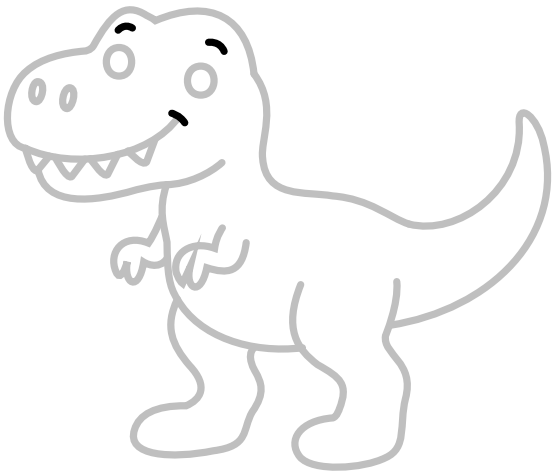

4 Steps 13-15

5 Steps 16-18

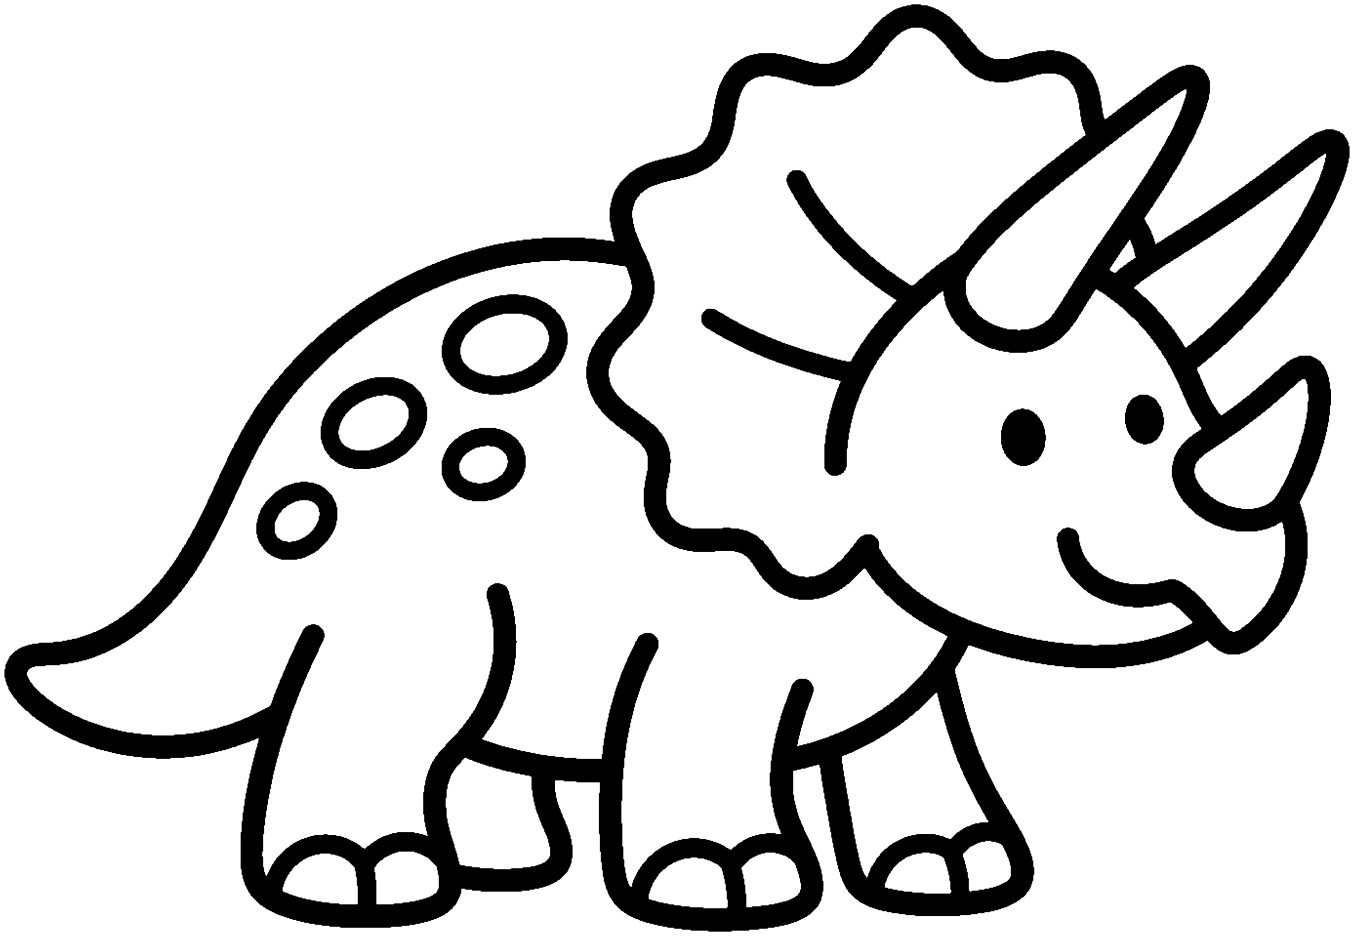

6 Steps 19-21

Trace the T-Rex

Go over the gray lines, then color it in.

Triceratops

Coloring tip

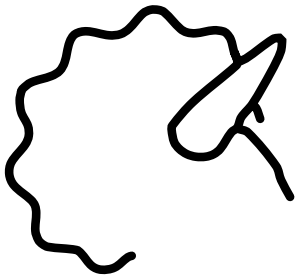

Try a sky blue body, a sunny yellow beak and horns, and darker blue spots. Any colour works: nobody knows what colour a real triceratops was.

Draw it line by line at trydrawalong.com/draw/triceratops

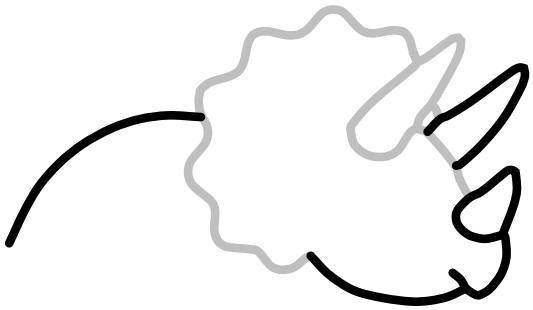

How to Draw a Triceratops

A smiling triceratops with a big wavy frill, three pointy horns, spots on its back and four sturdy legs.

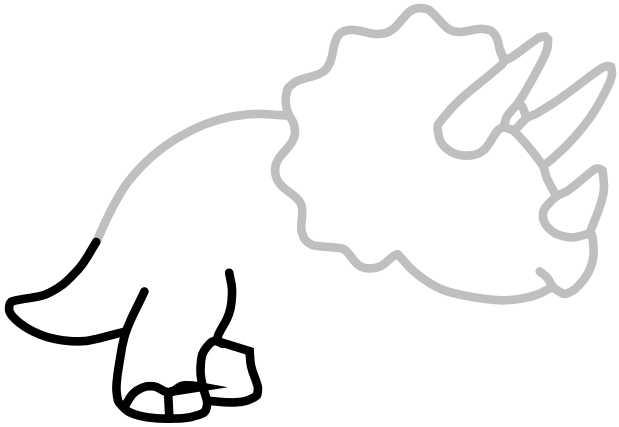

1 Steps 1-4

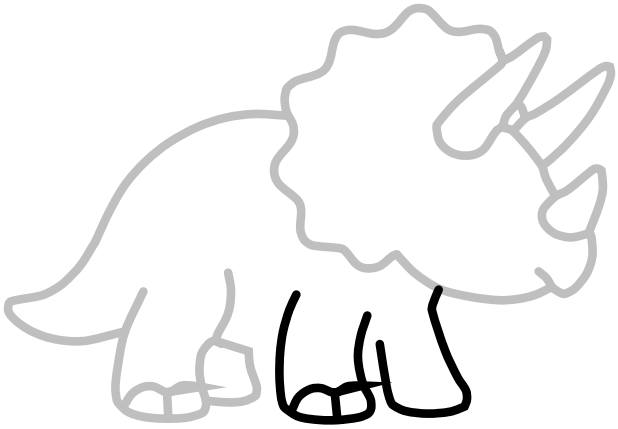

2 Steps 5-8

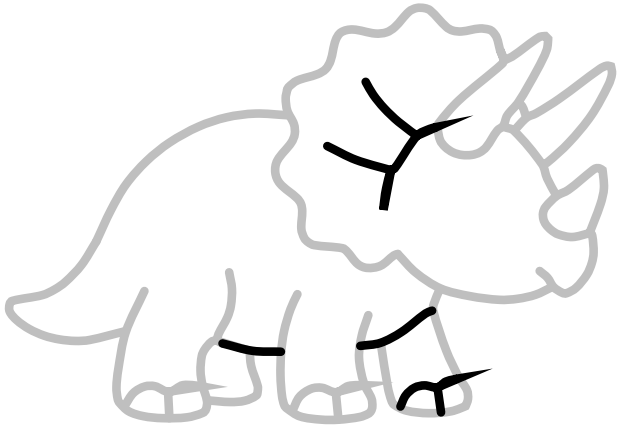

3 Steps 9-12

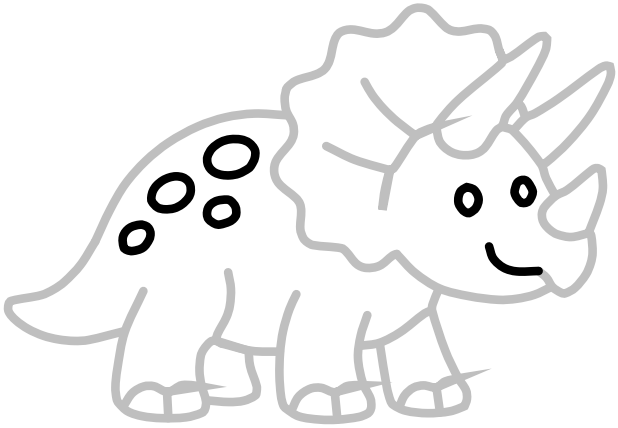

4 Steps 13-15

5 Steps 16-18

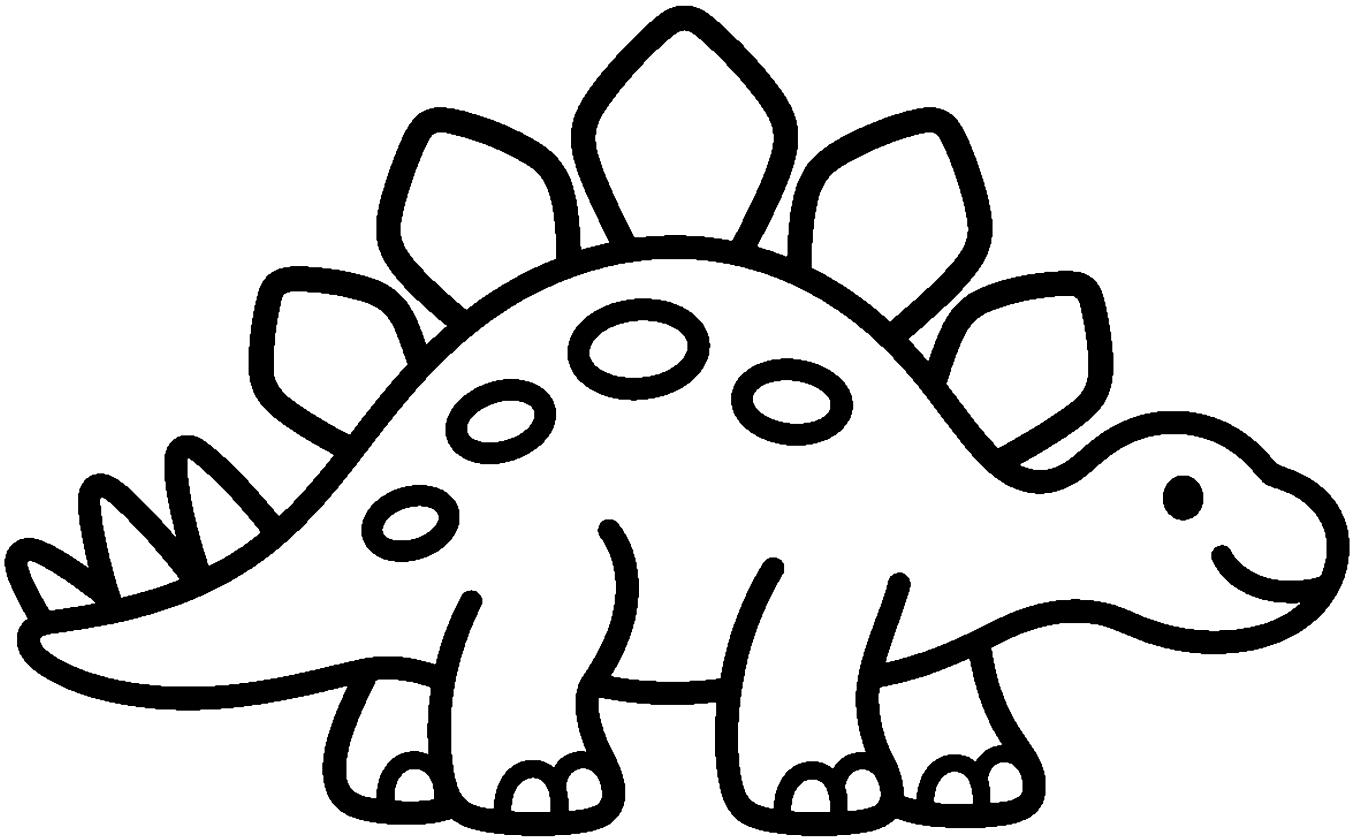

6 Steps 19-21

Trace the Triceratops

Go over the gray lines, then color it in.

Stegosaurus

Coloring tip

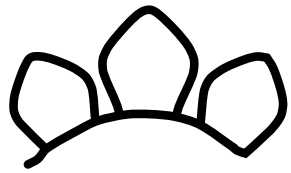

Try a leaf green body with orange plates and tail spikes, and darker green spots. The plates are a great place to try a different colour on each one.

Draw it line by line at trydrawalong.com/draw/stegosaurus

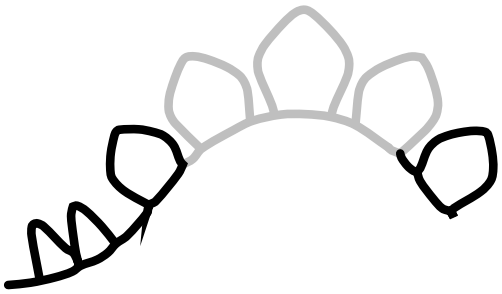

How to Draw a Stegosaurus

A happy stegosaurus with big plates along its back, spikes on its tail, spots and a small smiling head.

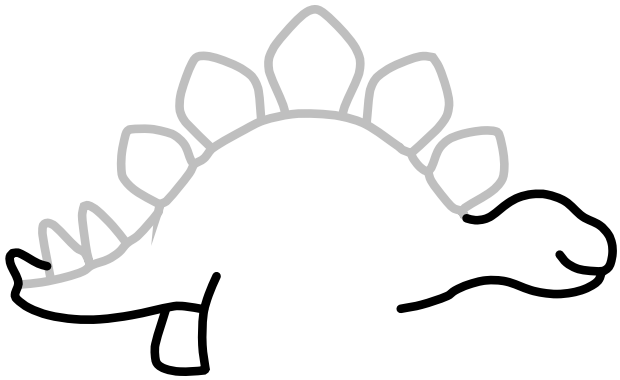

1 Steps 1-4

2 Steps 5-8

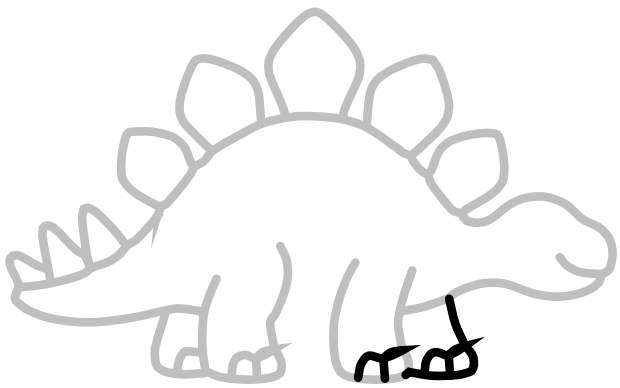

3 Steps 9-12

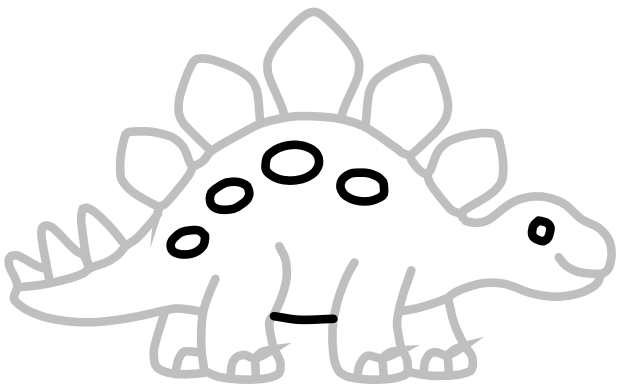

4 Steps 13-16

5 Steps 17-19

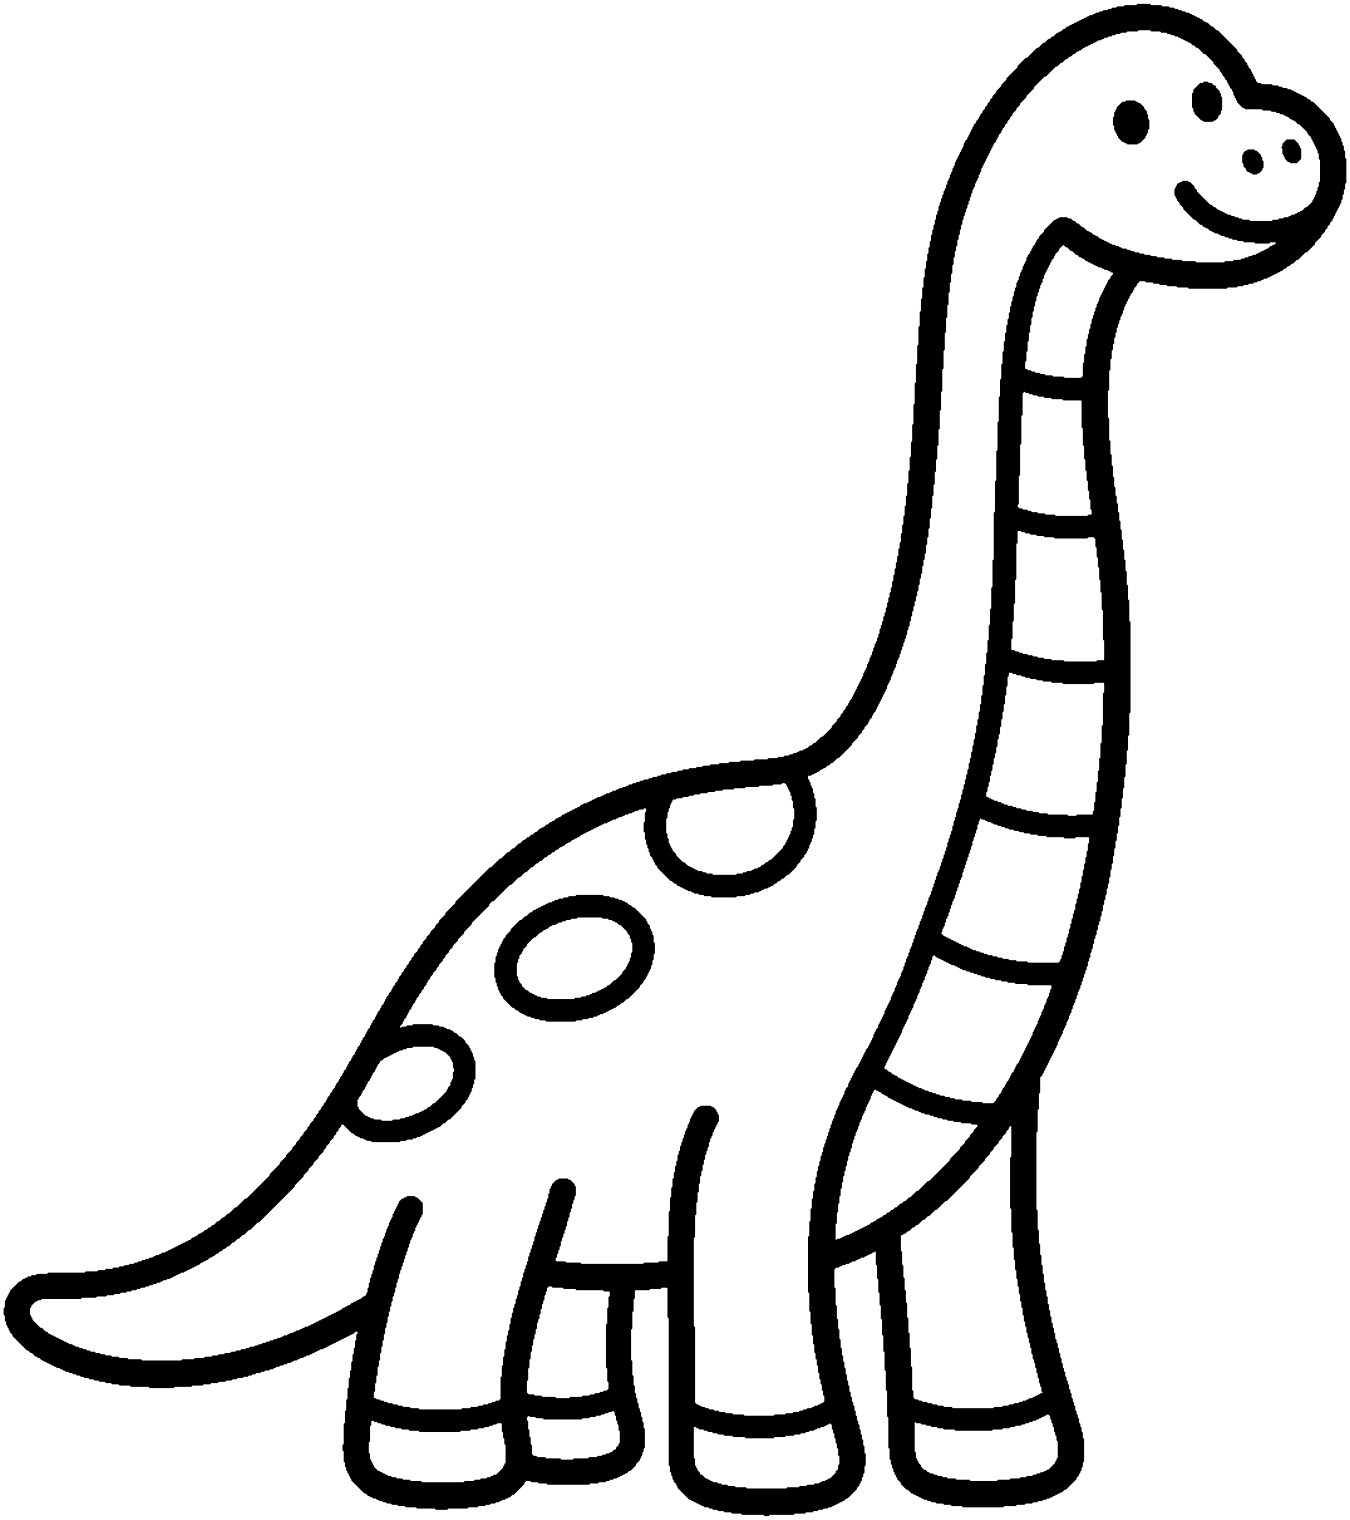

6 Steps 20-22

Trace the Stegosaurus

Go over the gray lines, then color it in.

Brachiosaurus

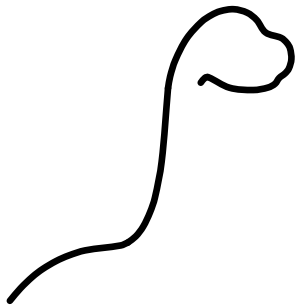

Coloring tip

Try a leaf green body, a pale yellow stripe down the neck and darker green spots. A few tall trees for it to nibble finish the scene.

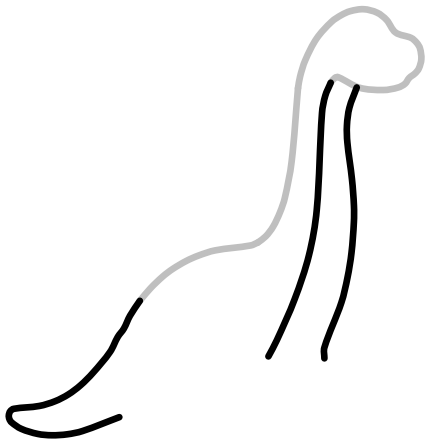

How to Draw a Brachiosaurus

A tall, friendly brachiosaurus with a very long neck, a striped throat, spots on its back and a long sweeping tail.

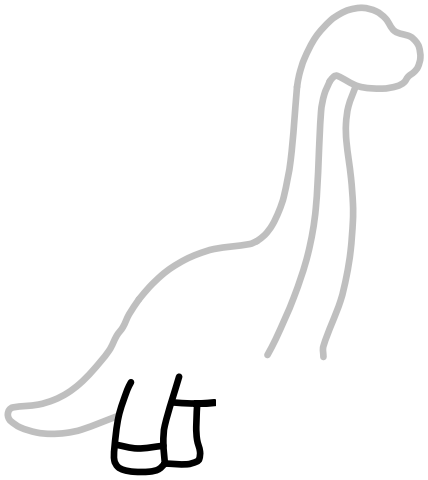

1 Steps 1-3

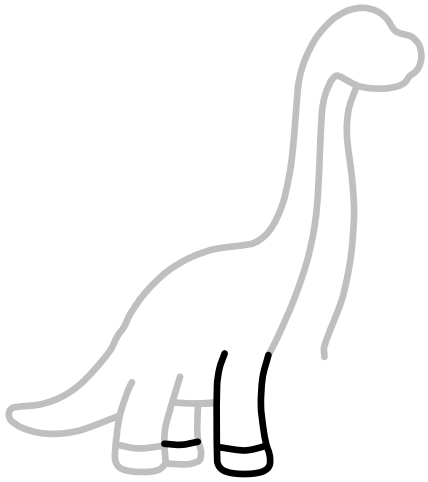

2 Steps 4-6

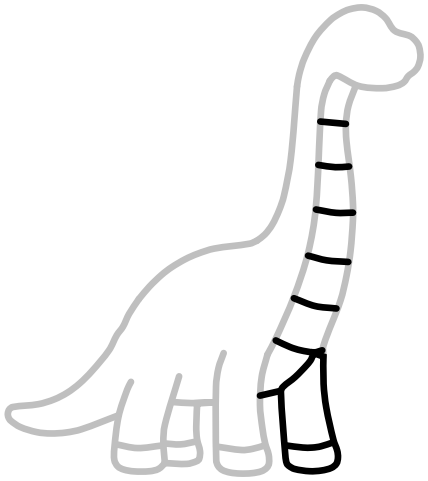

3 Steps 7-9

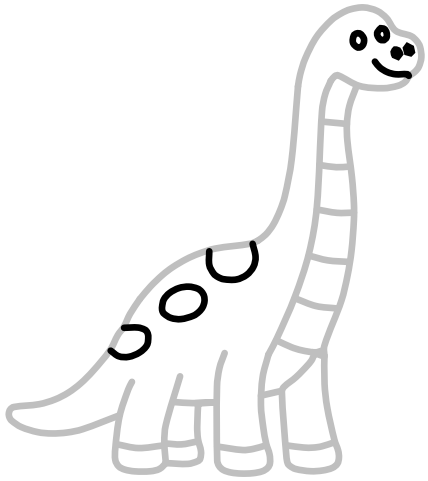

4 Steps 10-12

5 Steps 13-15

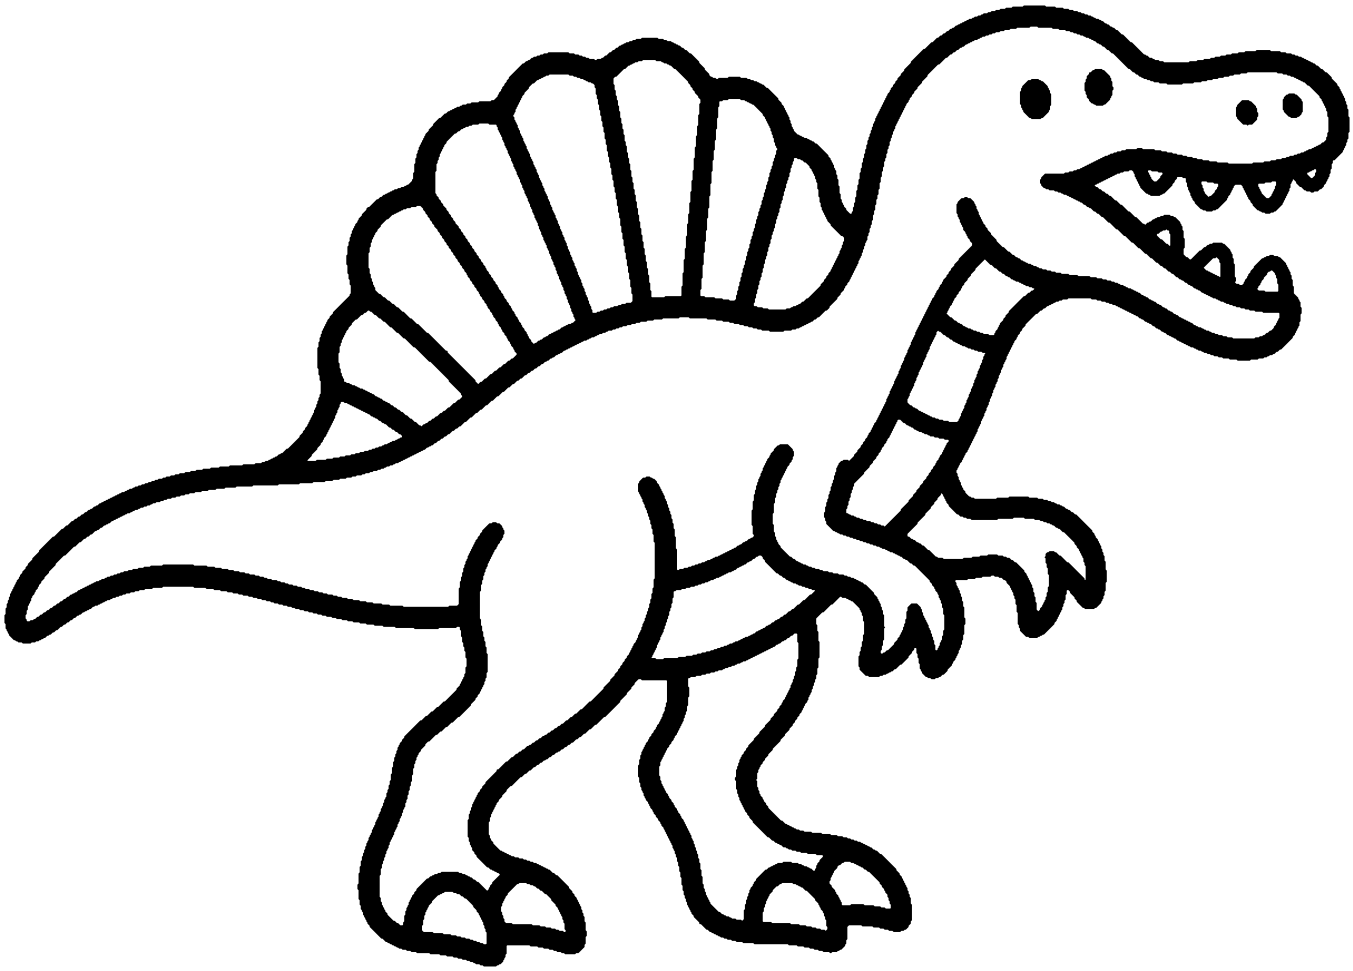

6 Steps 16-18

Trace the Brachiosaurus

Go over the gray lines, then color it in.

Spinosaurus

Coloring tip

Try a teal body with an orange sail and a pale yellow throat. White teeth make the open mouth pop.

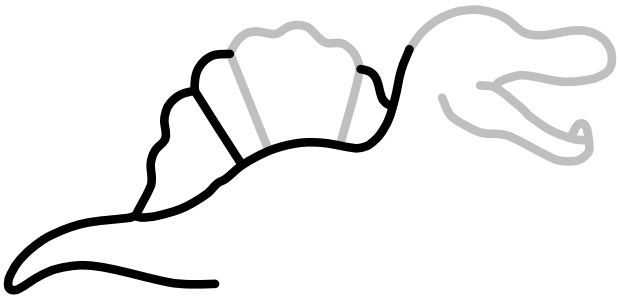

How to Draw a Spinosaurus

A spinosaurus with a tall striped sail on its back, a long toothy snout, little arms and a long tail.

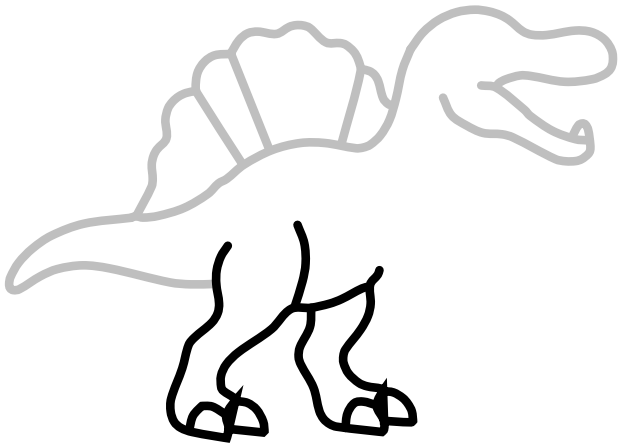

1 Steps 1-4

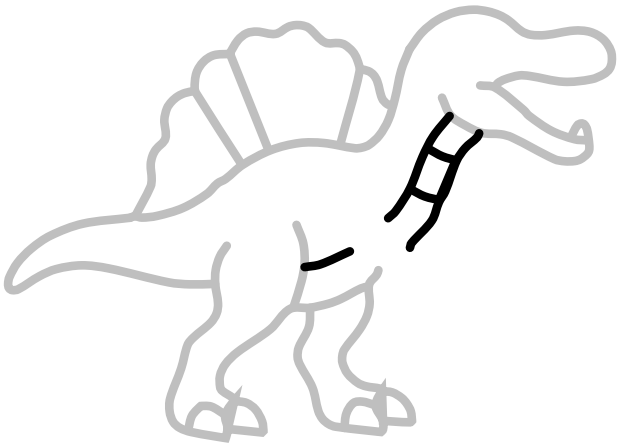

2 Steps 5-8

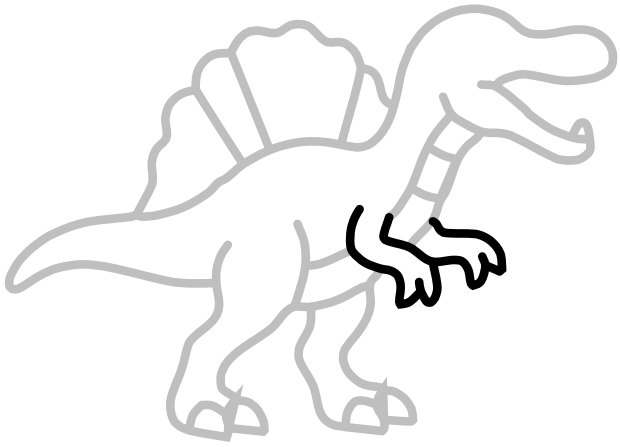

3 Steps 9-12

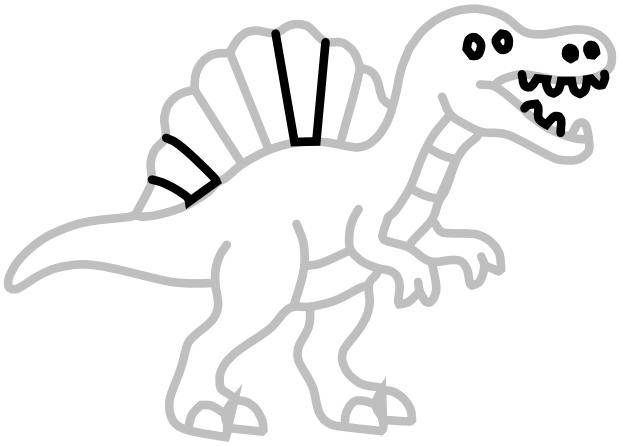

4 Steps 13-16

5 Steps 17-19

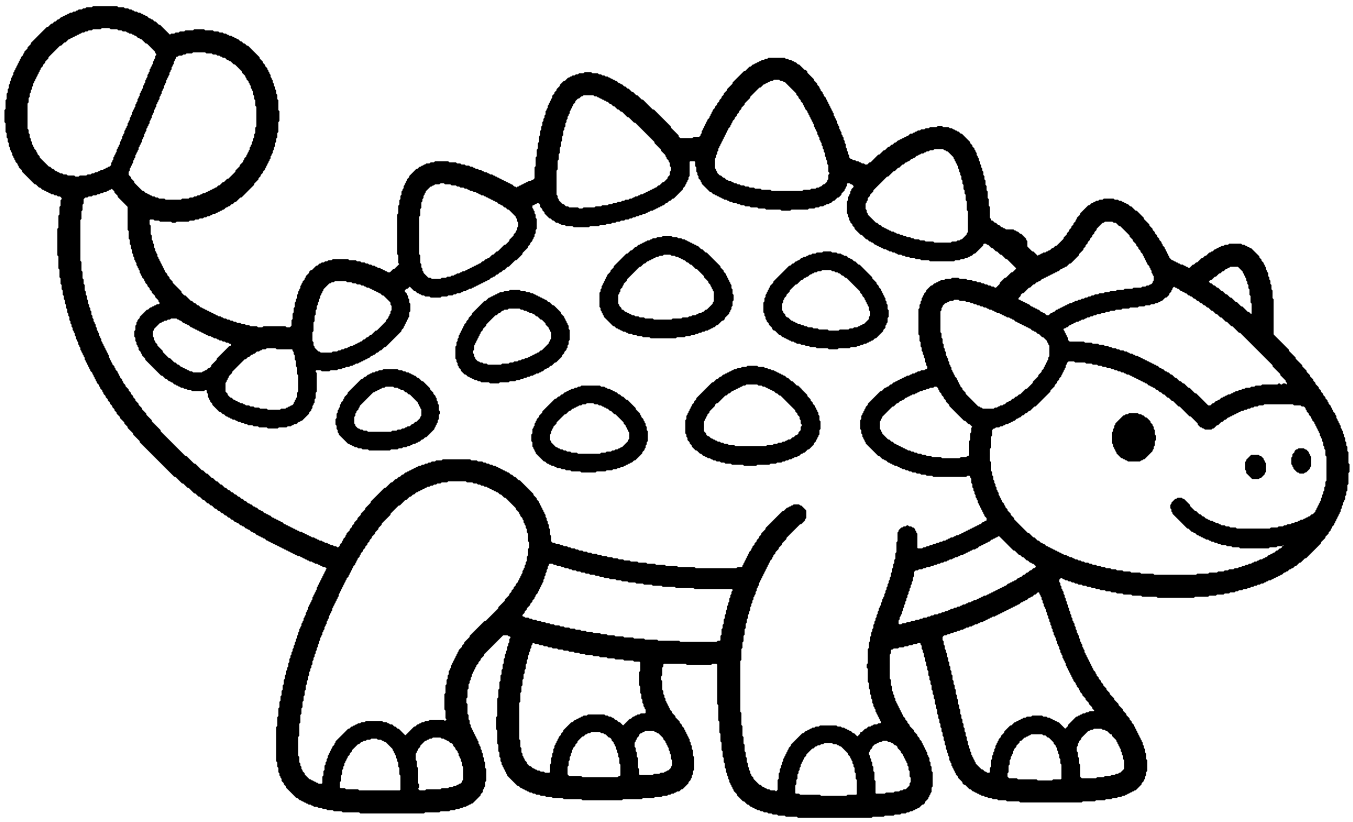

6 Steps 20-22

Trace the Spinosaurus

Go over the gray lines, then color it in.

Ankylosaurus

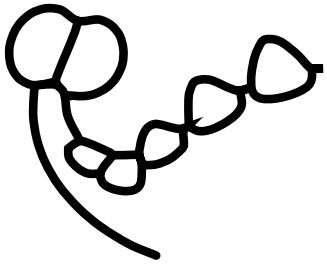

Coloring tip

Try a sandy brown body, cream spikes and bumps, and a darker brown tail club. Pick one bright colour for the bumps if you want it to stand out.

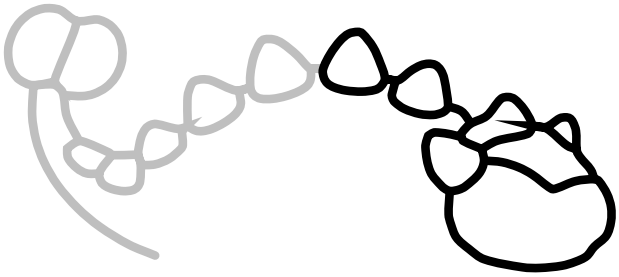

How to Draw an Ankylosaurus

A chunky ankylosaurus with a bumpy armoured back, spikes all along the top, a round club on its tail and a cheerful face.

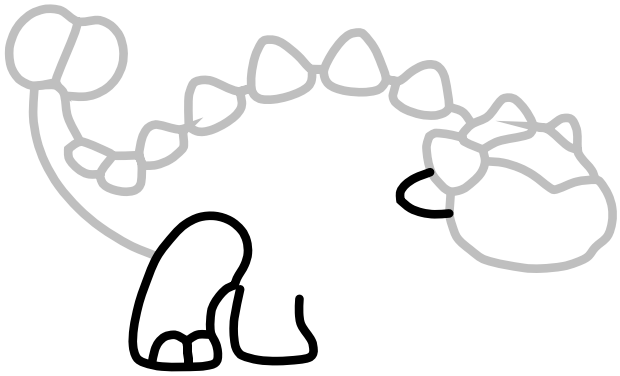

1 Steps 1-4

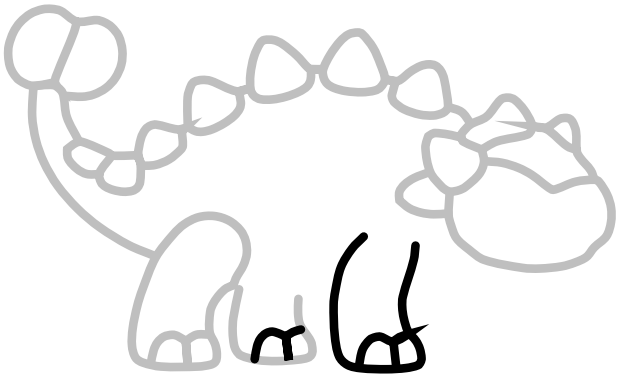

2 Steps 5-8

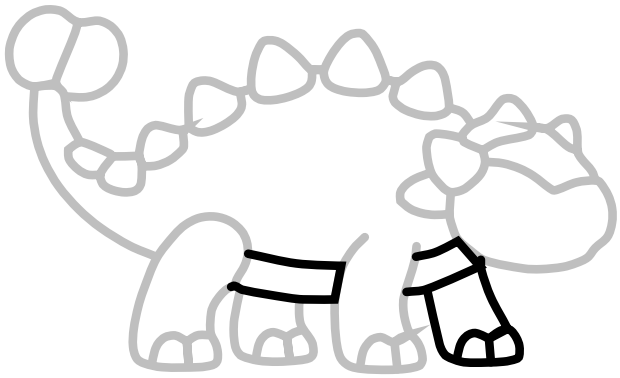

3 Steps 9-12

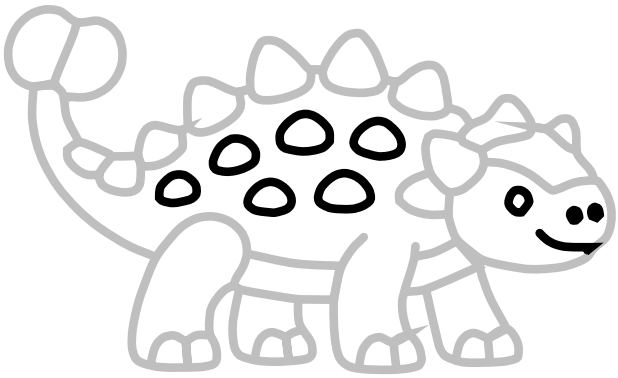

4 Steps 13-15

5 Steps 16-18

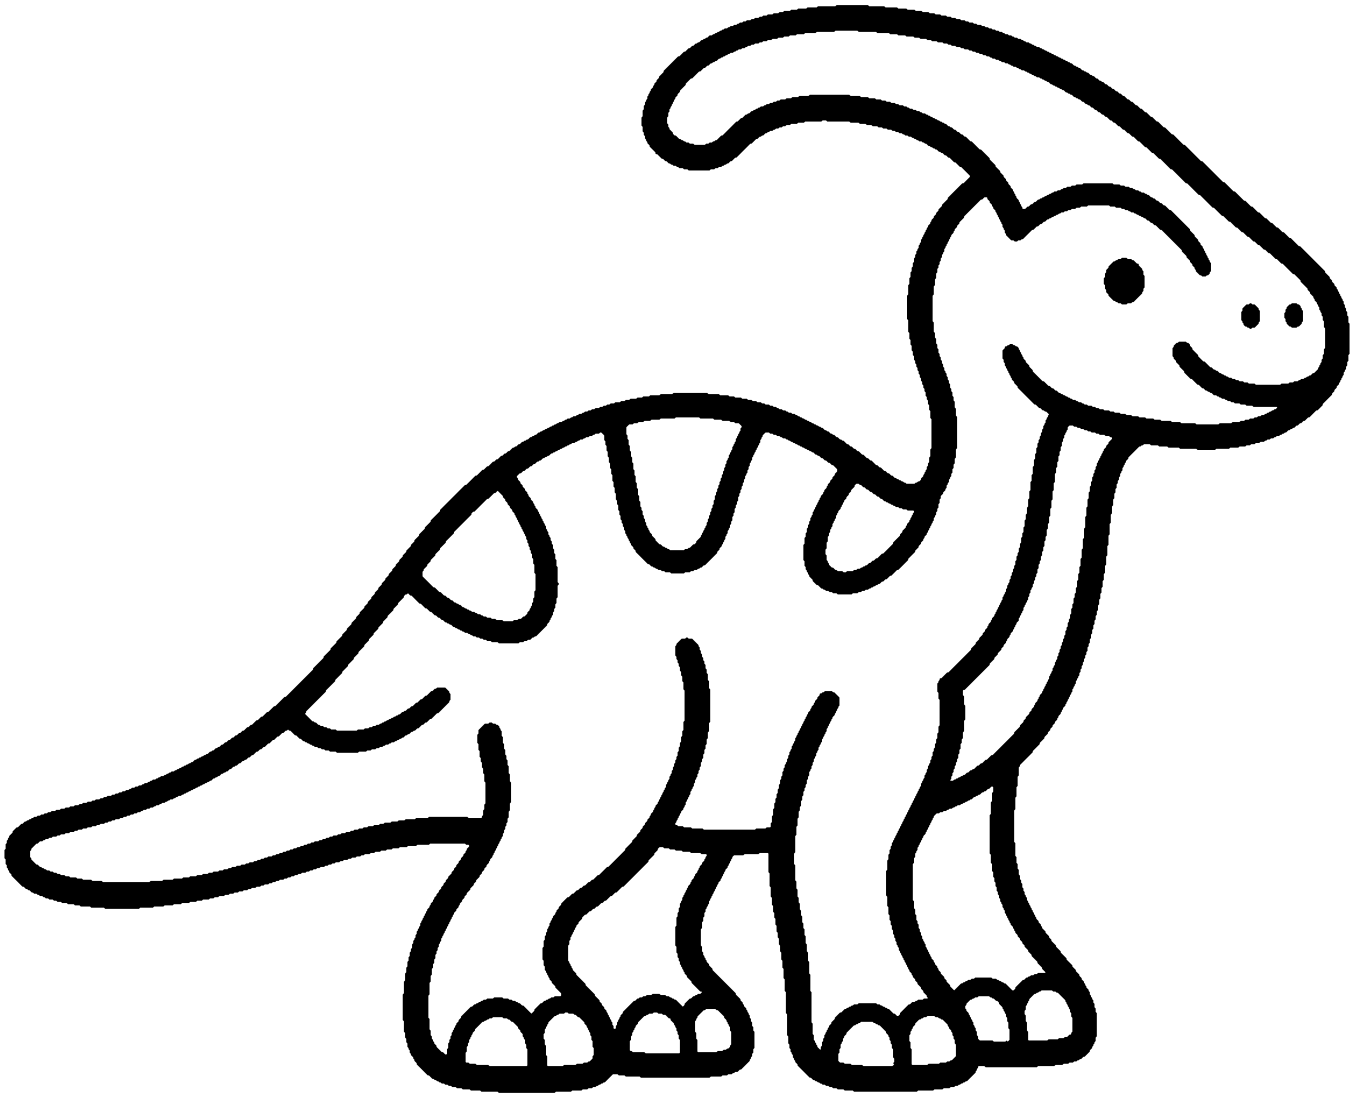

6 Steps 19-21

Trace the Ankylosaurus

Go over the gray lines, then color it in.

Parasaurolophus

Coloring tip

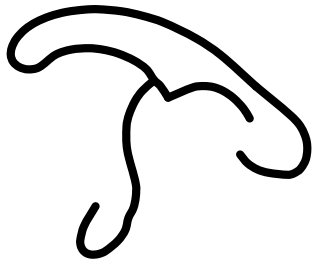

Try a grape purple body with darker purple stripes and a creamy throat. The long crest is fun in a bright colour of its own.

Draw it line by line at trydrawalong.com/draw/parasaurolophus

How to Draw a Parasaurolophus

A parasaurolophus with a long curved crest on its head, stripes on its back, a pale throat and a long tail.

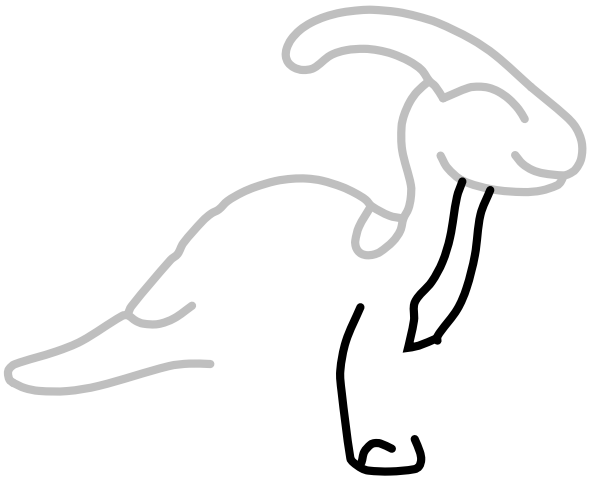

1 Steps 1-4

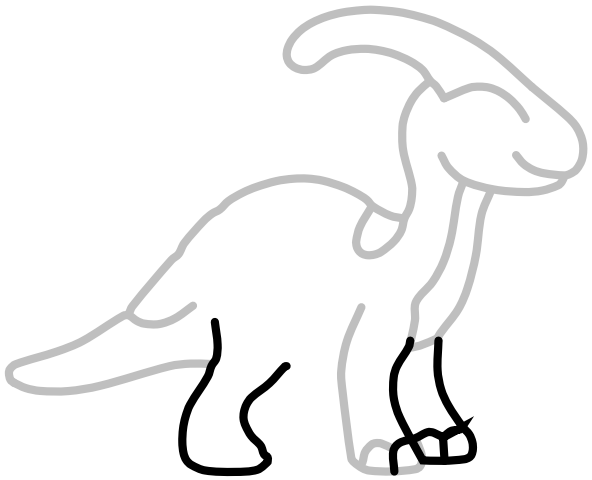

2 Steps 5-8

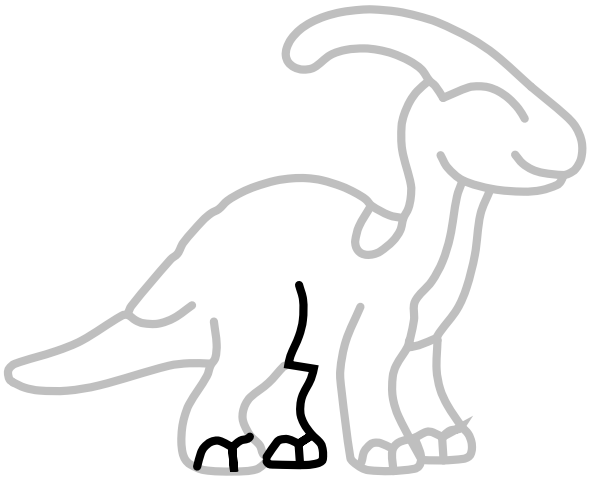

3 Steps 9-12

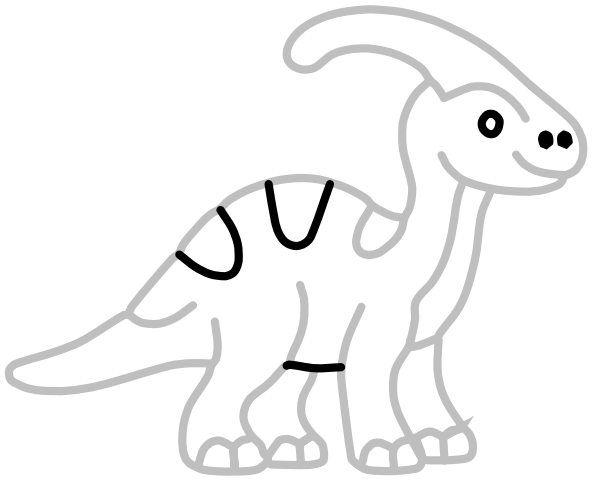

4 Steps 13-15

5 Steps 16-18

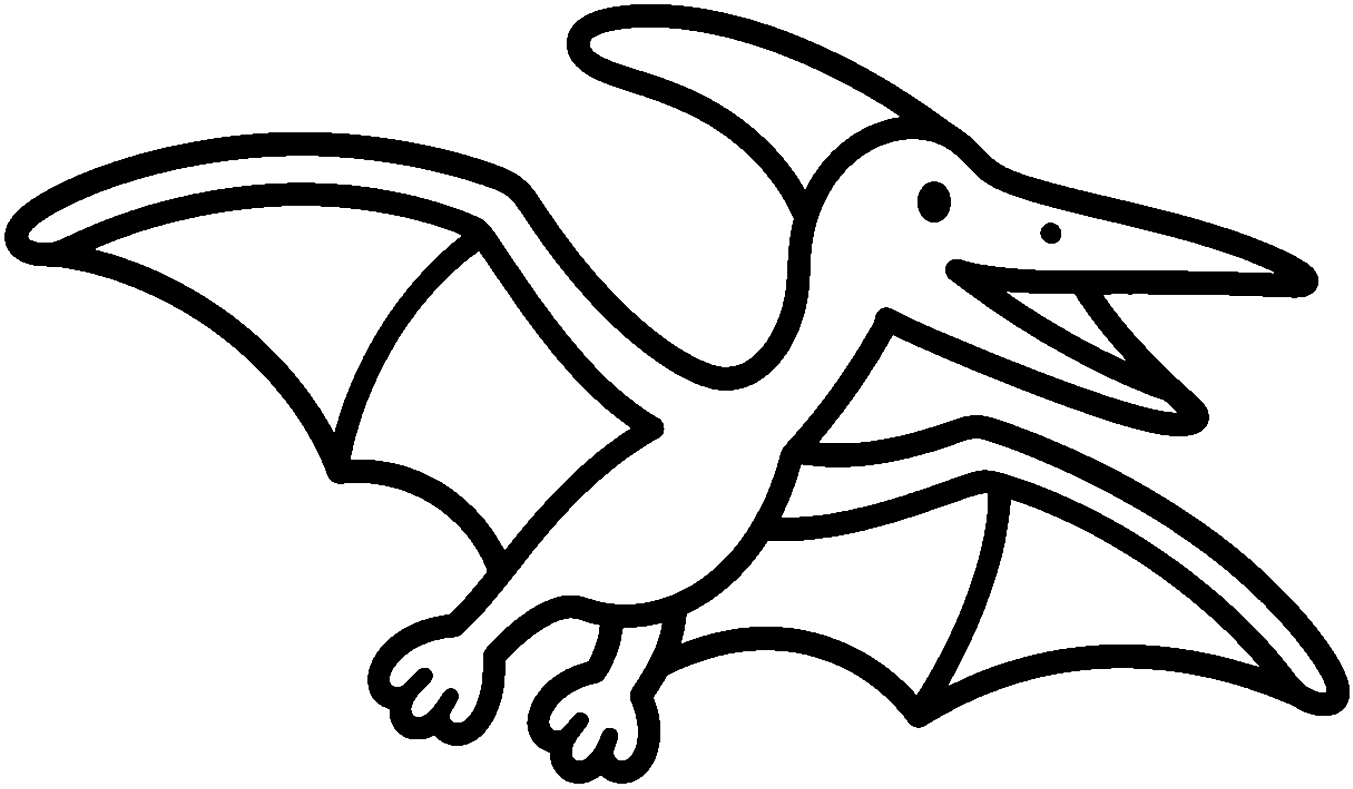

6 Steps 19-21

Trace the Parasaurolophus

Go over the gray lines, then color it in.

Pterodactyl

Coloring tip

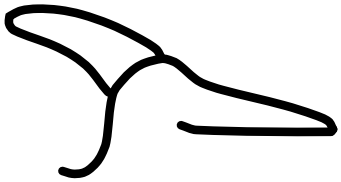

Try an orange body with lighter orange wings and a red crest. A blue sky and a few clouds make it look like it is flying.

Draw it line by line at trydrawalong.com/draw/pterodactyl

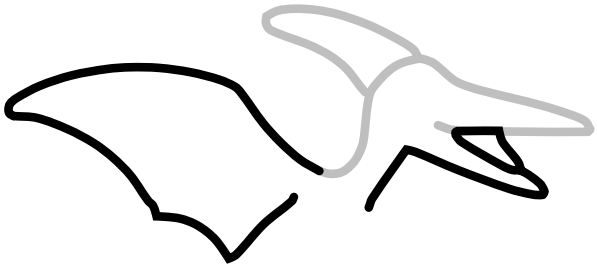

How to Draw a Pterodactyl

A flying pterodactyl with wide wings, a pointed crest, a long open beak and little feet tucked underneath.

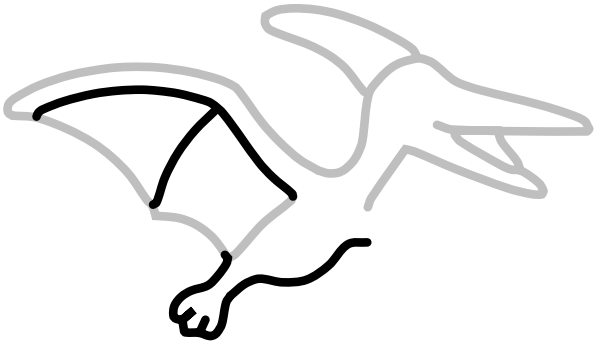

1 Steps 1-3

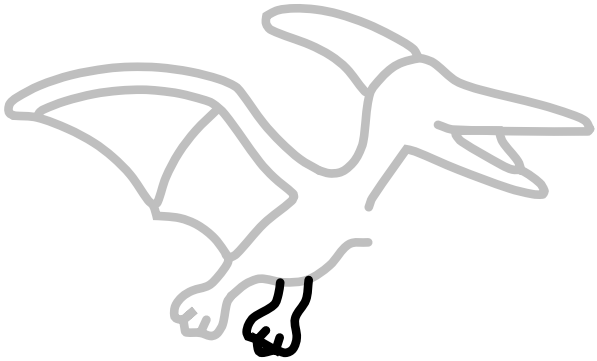

2 Steps 4-6

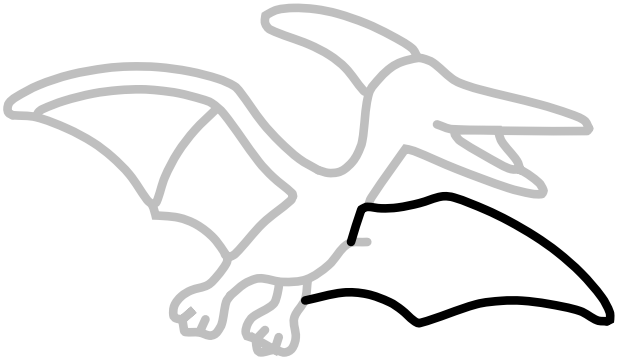

3 Steps 7-9

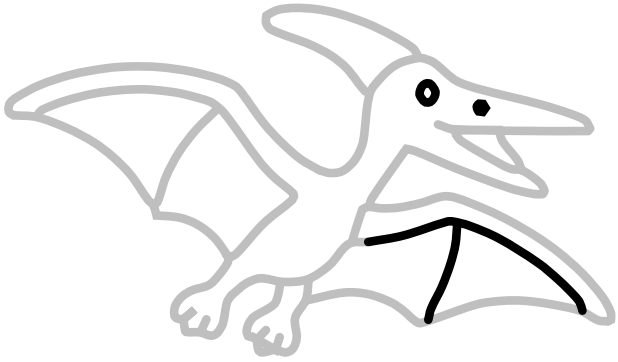

4 Steps 10-11

5 Steps 12-13

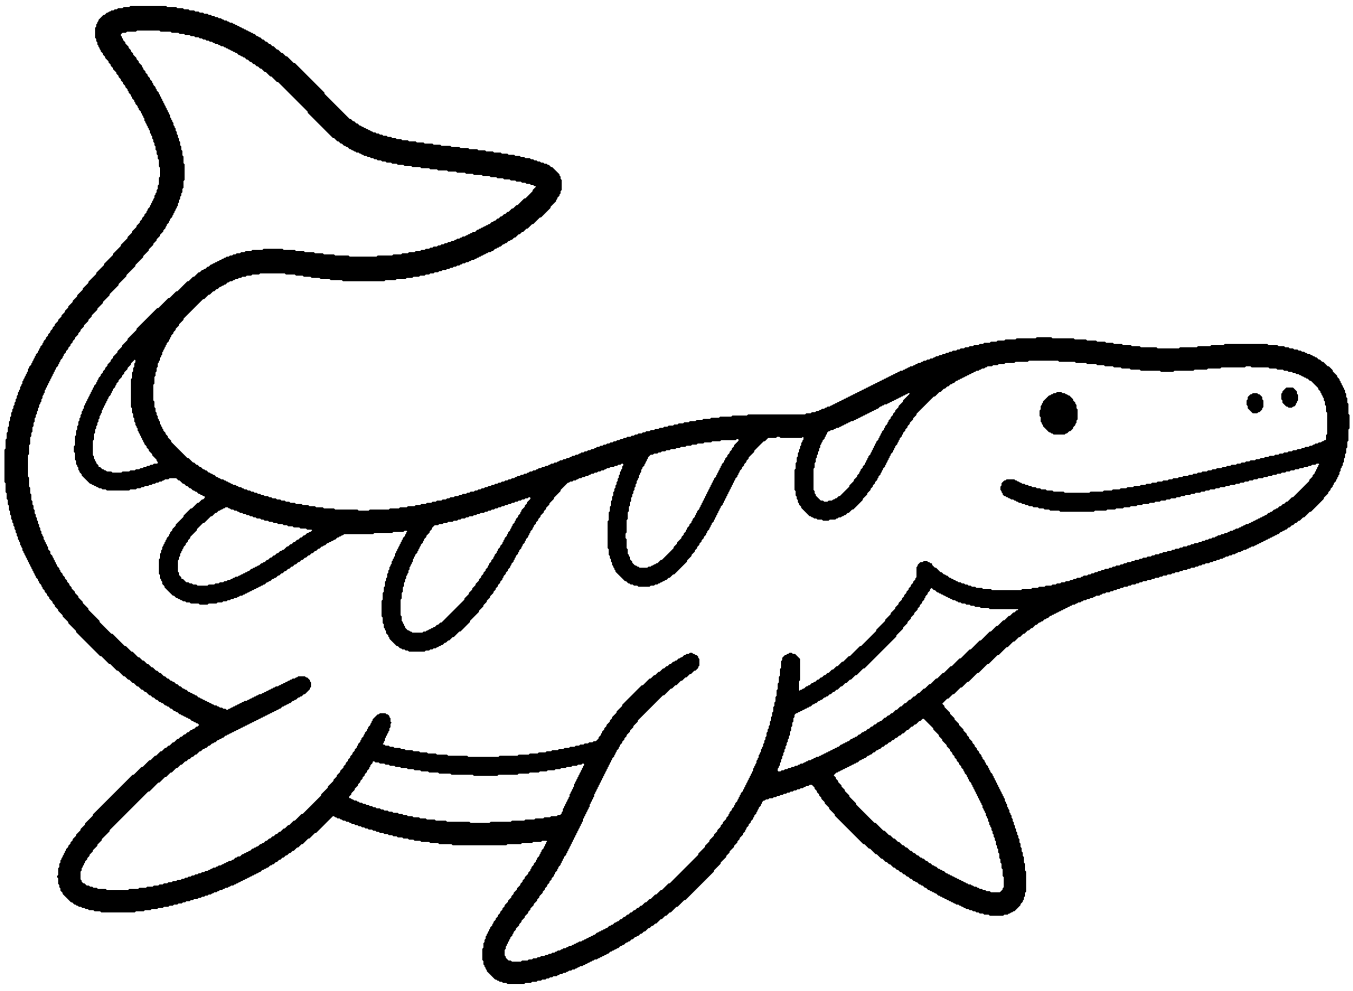

6 Steps 14-15

Trace the Pterodactyl

Go over the gray lines, then color it in.

Mosasaurus

Coloring tip

Try a sky blue body with deep blue stripes and a pale blue tummy. Draw a few bubbles and waves around it to show it is underwater.

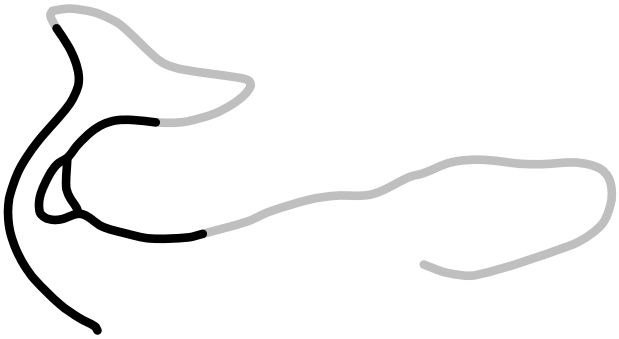

How to Draw a Mosasaurus

A smiling mosasaurus swimming along, with a long snout, a curved tail fin, three flippers and stripes on its back.

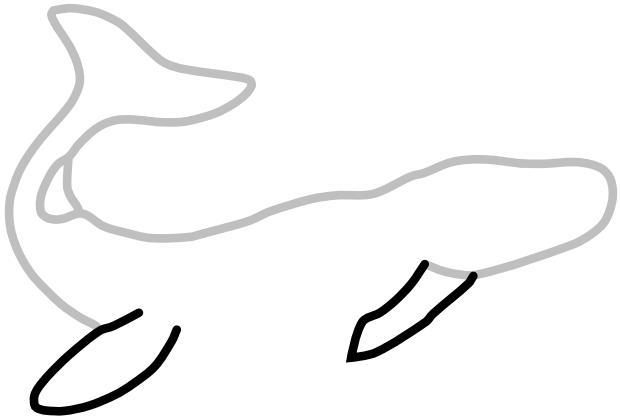

1 Steps 1-3

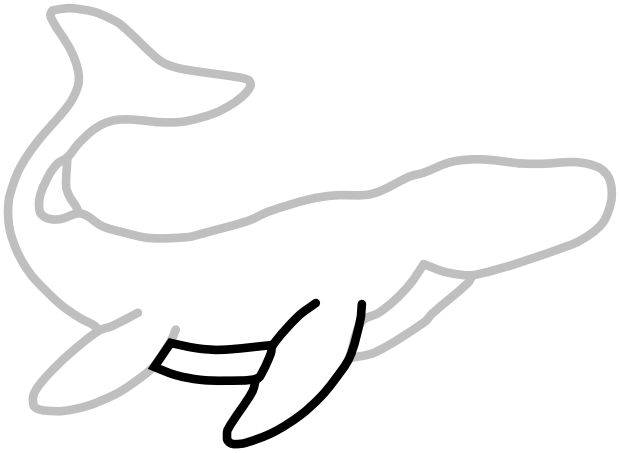

2 Steps 4-5

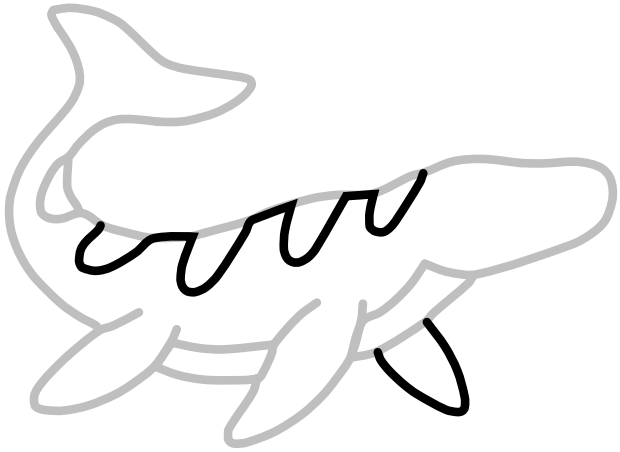

3 Steps 6-7

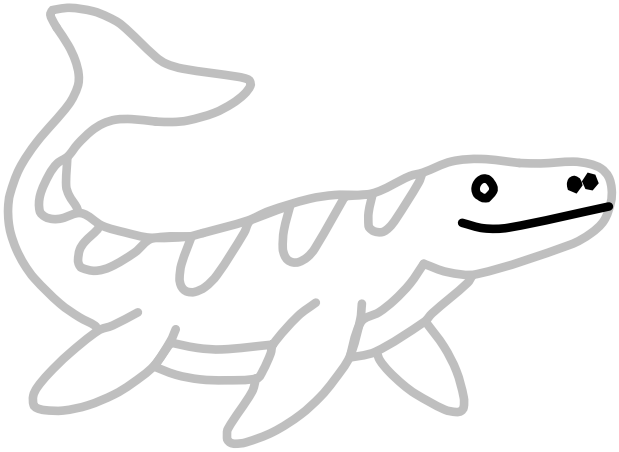

4 Steps 8-9

5 Steps 10-11

6 Steps 12-13

Trace the Mosasaurus

Go over the gray lines, then color it in.